City to Take 50 Per Cent Of Slot Income; Operators Call Council 'Communistic'

City councilmen sat back last night and heard themselves branded as "communists" for considering an ordinance which would tax slot machines at 50 per cent of their gross take. Then they passed a motion to suspend rules requiring reading of the ordinance at three consecutive meetings and rammed through the ordinance which will take 50 per cent of gross income from each slot machine operated in Twin Falls after Jan. 1.

The ordinance provides that operators of slot machines in the city will deliver keys for the devices to the city.

In addition, the new ordinance provides for appointment of bonded collectors. The operators will still be required to pay county and state taxes on a monthly pro-rated basis of $125 a year each.

The encroachment of "government in business" was branded as un-American, communistic and socialistic by several slot machine operators. These attacks upon the council's move were applauded by the 30-odd operators who attended.

Ordinance Passes

The new ordinance which places the city "in the slot machine business" was moved by Councilman I. E. Nitschke, and seconded by Councilman Truman T. Greenhalgh.

Three weeks ago the council decided to pass an ordinance which would scale taxes from $750 on five-cent machines to $1,750 on $1 machines. Two weeks ago this was amended to a scale of $550 to $2,750.

Last week, however, small operators termed that proposal "unfair" and the council tabled it. In the current year operators pay $550 annually which includes city, county and state fees.

Thanked by Operator

A lone voice thanked councilmen Monday night for their action. The voice was that of R. L. Bretz, who operates the A-1 grill, 348 Main avenue south. He said the new ordinance was "fair to small operators."

After the proposed ordinance was read by City Clerk Constance J. Leiser, Mayor Herbert G. Lauterbach asked if anyone wished to speak on the matter. O. A. Rambo, owner of Bo's cafe, introduced the "communistic theme."

Rambo predicted it would take a 10-man crew to "service the ma-

Bo[illegible] S[illegible] Fee for Slots

BOISE, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Boise city council unanimously passed a slot machine ordinance today, providing for a graduated scale of license fees, based on the denomination of the machine.

The ordinance will substitute for one vetoed by Mayor Potter P. Howard calling for a city tax of 50 per cent of the "take." The council failed to override the veto by a vote split two-two.

Under the ordinance, passed under emergency rules today, the license scale is $550 per year for each 5-cent machine; $600 for each 10-cent; $900 for each 25-cent; $1,200 for each 50 cent, and $1,500 for each $1 machine.

Councilman Ted Hardy estimated the ordinance would produce about $244,100 in city revenue in 1948.

The 1947 license fees were $500 for each 5-cent machine; $550 for the 10-cent; $825 for the 25-cent; $700 for the 50-cent and $1,000 for the $1 machines.

CALDWELL UPS RATE

CALDWELL, Dec. 16 (AP)—Caldwell "amusement device" ordinances received an overhauling in the city council meeting Monday night.

The council put into effect under suspension of the rules a graduated license fee on slot machines ranging from $750 for a five-cent machine to $1,850 for a $1 machine with the scale running up to $3,700 per year on multiple machines.

'Slots' Law Test Is Seen Sooner Than Anticipated

BOISE, Dec. 16 (UP)—Idaho's 1947 slot machine law is due for an earlier supreme court decision than first anticipated.

On file in the high court today was an appeal from Scott L. Smith of Homedale against an Owyhee county district court judgment finding him guilty of operating a slot machine without a license.

Briefs in the case must be filed by Dec. 22.

Scott began the court test last May 8 when he refused to buy a license for his one slot machine. He said the 1947 law was defective and that slot machines are prohibited under the anti-lottery section of the Idaho constitution.

District Judge C. F. Koelsch declined to rule on validity of the 1947 law or to say whether slot machines were banned by the constitution. He found Smith guilty of the offense and paved the way for the appeal.

Separate Reich Pact Shunned by Marshall

LONDON, Dec. 16 (U.P.)—Secy. of State George Marshall, confronted with a world split by failure of the big four conference, ruled out as "impossible" today proposals to make a separate peace with western Germany.

Soon after Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov hurried off to Moscow without saying goodbye to anyone, Marshall discussed the significance of the collapse of the council of foreign ministers with his delegation.

Marshall and his advisors were reported to be agreed generally that the west's only course now was to complete the unification of western Germany. That would be done by extending the economic arrangements for the Anglo-American zone to the French zone and then proceeding to some form of provisional political unification.

Tonight Marshall will discuss the crisis with French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault at a private dinner. The meeting may determine to what degree France will join Britain and America in converting all of western

Russ Blame West

MOSCOW, Dec. 16 (AP)—A dispatch from London by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, today blamed the breakdown of the big four foreign ministers conference on the western powers' efforts "to hamper international cooperation in the cause of establishing postwar peace."

The dispatch said Secy. of State George C. Marshall proposed "that the session adjourn without indicating the next meeting date."

Upper Snake Water Users Favor Offer

IDAHO FALLS, (AP)—Water leaders of the upper Snake river valley, after a three-day study of the latest compromise offer in the Snake river water dispute, today said they were inclined to look with favor on the proposal made Saturday by R. J. Newell, Boise, regional reclamation director.

They hastened to add, however, that many questions must be settled before an agreement can be reached.

Purchase Offer

The compromise proposal offers 28 canal companies the right to purchase approximately three-fourths of the water which they have been leasing in American Falls reservoir.

John E. Kelley, Shelley, chairman of the advisory Committee of Nine, [illegible] red with John Lee, [illegible] of the committee; [illegible] Idaho Falls, di[illegible] [illegible] den Canal [illegible] Van Orden, [illegible] the Peoples [illegible] canal leaders [illegible] to obtain a consensus. The favor with which upper Snake river valley leaders regard the latest compromise offer contrasts sharply with reaction from Twin Falls area where spokesmen of both factions bluntly rejected the Newell proposals.

No Agreements

"We are meeting informally, but no agreements on the latest offer have been reached," Kelley emphasized. "Our problems are slightly different than those in the Twin Falls area, North and South side. We must all get together for mutual agreement."

Kelley said Newell will be asked to meet with the water delegation probably later this week to discuss the compromise. The dispute over water diversion has held up an agreement which is necessary before construction may progress on Palisades dam east of Idaho Falls.

Farms' Produce Price Sets Mark

BOISE, Dec. 16 (UP)—The prices received by Idaho farmers have reached an all time high, the bureau of agricultural economics here reported today.

The bureau said the index of farm prices reached 296 on Nov. 15. That's two points above the previous record reached in May, 1920, 40 points above November of last year and two points higher than last month.

The advance in grain and potato prices contributed to the higher index. On the other side, apples dropped sharply and the fruit and vegetable index dropped three points.

Unity of West Reich Seen in 'Near Future'

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 16 (AP)—German political leaders of the U. S. and British zones agreed tonight on a basic plan for creation of a western Germany which they hope will attract 17,000,000 of their countrymen in the Russia area away from communists.

FRANKFURT, Dec. 16 (AP)—American observers predicted today that western Germany would begin to take shape as an interim state, union or confederation almost immediately as a result of the collapse of the big four talks in London.

German political leaders of the economically-merged British and American zones already are prepared for such a development, and are expected to take the initiative in trying to bring it about.

Parties in Parley

The groundwork will be laid at a meeting of representatives of western Germany's two major parties—the right wing Christian social union and the left wing social democrats—who assembled here today to draft definite proposals for the formation of a government.

"In the face of the results of the London conference," said one prominent member of the Christian Democratic party, "we must now go ahead. We can do nothing else. Western Germany's economic crisis—her future as a vital part of western Europe—demands that we unite western Germany."

Awaits Green Light

The Germans are awaiting only a go-ahead signal from the allied military authorities. It is expected by many observers that the go-ahead may be given them Friday or Saturday when Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, is scheduled to visit Frankfurt for a meeting of the bi-zonal economic council.

Living Cost of U.S. 'Average Family' up $450 in 22 Months

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The bureau of labor statistics told congress today it costs an average family of four in 34 major cities about $450 more a year to maintain a "modest" standard of living now than it did 22 months ago. Almost a third of this goes for food.

The annual budget for such a family ranged from $3,004 in New Orleans to $3,548 in Washington as of last June, the bureau said, and since then consumer prices have jumped another 4.3 per cent.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, said the average family for the purposes of his report is an employed father, a housewife and two schoolchildren under the age of 15.

He described the budget on which his figures were based as neither at the "subsistence" (bare living) nor "luxury" level, but "an attempt to describe and measure a modest but adequate American standard of living."

The bureau survey was started in 1945 at the request of a house appropriations subcommittee. Clague turned it over today to sub-committee of the house-senate economic committee headed by Senator Taft, R., O.

The report said the cost of food, largest single item in the budget, ranged last June from $1,000 a year in Cincinnati to a little under $1,100 in New York and Seattle, averaging about $20 a week.

This compared with March, 1946,

Solon to Demand List Of Big Mart Traders

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (U.P.)—A leading Republican senator said today he will ask the senate appropriations committee to subpoena government lists of big commodity market traders if the administration continues to refuse congress a look at them.

Sen. Homer Ferguson, R., Mich., told a reporter the appropriations committee should investigate charges that government insiders are listed as profit-making speculators in food through advance access to information on government purchasing plans.

He said he would formally request the appropriations committee to subpoena lists of those holding more than 20,000 bushels of grain if Secy. of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson stands pat on his claim that it would be unlawful to reveal the names to congress.

The overall inquiry would come after the holidays although investigation of market operations of Edwin W. Pauley, special assistant the secretary of army, will continue now.

Charges of clumsy handling of government purchases and of profiteering by insiders were made by Harold E. Stassen, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. If he makes them stick, Stassen's political stock will boom plenty and the Truman administration will be rocked to its foundations in a presidential election year.

Stassen said analysis by his staff of government purchases of food and other commodities had at first disclosed only unintelligent and clumsy operations.

"But as we proceeded with our study," he told a press conference here yesterday, "it became apparent that there was more than lack of intelligence involved; that it fitted into a pattern of private operations by insiders. I believe the investigation will disclose a pattern of operations that would cause any fair minded citizen to conclude that they could not be coincidental."

Full Probe Set

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The house Republican steering committee decided today to set up a special seven-man house committee to investigate "speculation on the commodity markets."

Speculators Turn To Grain Markets

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (UP)—Many postwar speculators, forced out of the stock market by high margin requirements, are trading heavily in agricultural commodities, the commodity exchange authority reported today.

Administrator J. M. Mehl said in his annual report that during the year ended June 30 some $33,000,000,000 worth of agricultural commodities changed hands in the futures market—double the previous year's trading. More than half the trading was in cotton.

Mehl noted that speculative trading in grain fell off sharply in October after the exchanges imposed a 33 1/3 per cent margin requirement at the urging of President Truman. He implied that congress should give the government power to fix margins in all commodity trading.

Senators Confirm NLRB Appointees

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—President Truman's three nominations to new national labor relations board positions were confirmed by the senate today.

They are former Sen. Abe Murdock, Utah Democrat, and J. Copeland Gray, New York, both as board members, and Robert N. Denham as its general counsel.

Confirmation was by voice vote. House action is not required.

Worker Killed In Burley by Shorted Wire

BURLEY, Dec. 16—Rex B. Hooton, 33, was killed instantly at 5:30 p. m. Monday when he sought to move a street light wire that began shorting when the street lights were turned on here.

Mr. Hooton picked up the 2,300 volt wire that had been removed by a city electrician in order that he and his employer, Victor Aldrich, could cut down trees on South Normal avenue, where the fatal accident occurred.

Efforts of Burley firemen to revive him with artificial respiration failed and he was pronounced dead on arrival at the Cottage hospital here.

Aldrich told Police Chief W. W. Williams that the wire had been placed behind some bushes near the point where he and Mr. Hooton were working and began sparking when the street lights were turned on.

Williams quoted Aldrich as saying, "I told him to leave it alone and we would call an electrician."

Aldrich became busy with something else, he told Williams, and failed to see Mr. Hooton pick up the live wire.

"I heard him scream," he said, "and turned toward him as he fell to the ground."

Mr. Hooton is survived by his widow and three children, Carey; three brothers, Frank Hooton, Forrest Hooton and Clell Hooton, and two sisters, Mrs. Ralph Horton and Mrs. Marvis Harrel, all Salt Lake City, Utah.

Mr. Hooton was boarding in Burley while employed by Aldrich and Mrs. Hooton and the children are living with her father, J. L. Stewart, Carey.

Funeral arrangements are pending. The body rests at the Vern McCulloch funeral home, Burley.

GOP Inflation Act Passes Committee, Moves Into Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The senate banking committee today approved [illegible] point Republican anti-inflation bill. The action kept the way open at least in the senate for further consideration of measures to check the rising cost of living. Any action in the house appeared a slim possibility after yesterdays' vote turning down the GOP's bill.

The banking committee's approval was by voice vote at the end of a hearing at which Senator Taft, R., O., chairman of the senate policy committee, appealed for fast action.

Debate Tomorrow

Taft told the committee that if the senate gives unanimous approval, the measure can be called up for debate there starting tomorrow.

He added that the Democrats could block this if they wanted to, and that such action probably would eliminate any chance for action in the house before the Friday adjournment goal.

Taft had told reporters earlier that he had no agreement with house leaders for action there.

Has Long Confab

Taft said he held a long conference with House Republican Leader Halleck, Ind., on the possibility of a house agreement for speedy action there if the senate passes the Taft measure.

The senator said they "reached no definite agreement," but "I have dropped the idea of trying to work out a definite agreement with the house."

Taft added he feels the senate "should go ahead anyway."

House Panel Slashes 88 Millions From Aid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The house appropriations committee today made an $88,000,000 cut in the emergency foreign aid program and slashed from $490,000,000 to $230,000,000 a fund the army asked for government and relief in occupied areas.

It sent to the house floor a bill providing $509,000,000 aid for France, Italy and Austria compared with the $597,000,000 the administration asked.

Nothing was recommended for China.

Only yesterday, congress sent to President Truman legislation approving a $597,000,000 program of help to the three European countries and China.

Mr. Truman had called congress into special session Nov. 17 and asked $597,000,000 to help France, Italy and Austria get through the winter and resist communism.

But Approved "Idea"

The bill sent to the President only gave congressional approval for the idea of aid and set $597,000,000 as the maximum which could be provided. Separate legislation was required to provide the funds. That is the bill the committee has now recommended.

While the committee recommended no funds for China, it said that $88,000,000 reduction would leave a reserve for use in China in the event an aid program is begun there.

Comparison Given

Here is what Mr. Truman asked for the European countries and what the committee recommended (in millions):

France	$128	[illegible]
Italy	$211	[illegible]
Austria	[illegible]	[illegible]

Panel Passes Hike in Cash For Projects

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (UP)—The house appropriations committee today recommended that congress vote $31,939,000 to keep work going this fiscal year on four big reclamation projects.

The committee recommended $15,584,000 for the Columbia basin project, $11,405,000 for the Central Valley projects, $4,150,000 for the Colorado-Big Thompson and $1,800,000 for the Davis dam.

Increase Figures

These are projects which Reclamation Commissioner Michael Straus said would have to be shut down for lack of funds. The budget bureau request of [illegible] for the four projects [illegible] features of the bill were dealt with in record time by the interior appropriations subcommittee, a deficiency subcommittee and the full appropriations committee.

Budget Increase Unique

Their action in increasing the budget bureau requests for reclamation was unique in recent history. The interior subcommittee recommended the increase which was subsequently approved by the deficiency subcommittee and the full committee.

Chairman Ben Jensen, R., Ia., told a reporter that he believed the increase recommended by his subcommittee caused some surprise among his colleagues.

"I think they were pretty startled by the recommendation for an increase coming from me in view of my past conservative record on these matters," he said.

The committee recommended lump sum appropriations for all the projects except the Central valley. On that project, members specified breakdowns.

$200,000 Winter Help for Indians Voted by Group

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (UP)—The house appropriations committee today recommended that congress allot $200,000 in emergency relief for Navajo and Hopi Indians this winter.

The amount was $250,000 less than requested by the bureau of Indian affairs. Congress completed action yesterday on a bill which would authorize appropriations up to $2,000,000. But the bureau of Indian affairs asked for only $450,000 at this time.

The appropriations committee's cut was accompanied by criticism of what the committee called "short sighted policies" of the bureau of Indian affairs.

Idaho's PUC Grants Boost Of Rail Rates

BOISE, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Idaho public utilities commission issued an order today permitting increases in intra-state rates for railroad passengers and baggage, expected to increase revenues approximately $2,000 per year.

The new rate schedule, effective Dec. 18, corresponds to raises granted by the interstate commerce commission for interstate travel.

No Opposition

In its report the Idaho commission said that no one appeared in opposition to the proposed increases.

The following changes were approved:

1. One-way first class fares (good for transportation in Pullman cars) raised from 3.3 to 3.5 cents per mile.
2. Round-trip first class fare raised from 2.75 to 2.925 cents per mile.
3. One-way intermediate class fares (transportation in tourist sleepers) raised from 2.75 to 3.00 cents per mile.

Round-Trip Rate Upped

4. Round-trip intermediate class fares increased from 2.475 to 2.7 cents per mile.
5. Excess baggage rates to be based on 20.833 per cent of the one-way first class fares.

Coach fares were not effected by the new rates.

Asking for the increases were the Union Pacific; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific; Northern Pacific; Great Northern; Spokane International and the Camas Prairie railroads.

[illegible] Hike o[illegible]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. [illegible]—[illegible] spokesman for the AFL Western Union telegraphers declared today that "we're going to [illegible] right down the line for our wage demands—else we'll strike."

W. Lee Cooney, general president of the southwestern [illegible] telegraphers, told a reporter the union would not modify its demands for a 15-cent-an-hour wage boost.

Debate at Parley

Cooney's statement was made as the union prepared to sit down with representatives of management and the U. S. conciliation service in an effort to head off a strike [illegible] Dec. 23.

Said Hal R. Swann, general president of the union of 45,000 workers:

"We've got to stick to our demands for a 15-cent hourly wage [illegible] since the company has refused to make a counter proposal. We will walk out of any meeting right at its start if the company [illegible] proposal to settle the [illegible] dispute."

U. S. Intervenes

The government called the conference of union and employer officials, in an effort to head off the strike, but labor leaders expressed optimism over the outcome of the meeting.

Adolph Brungs, president of the Western Union division of the Commercial Telegraphers union, said that although the strike vote has not been completed, returns show that at least 90 per cent of this union members are in favor of the walkout.

Tremendous Effect

The strike by AFL unions, representing workers throughout the nation exclusive of New York City, would affect Western Union facilities of stock exchanges, news services, grain and cotton exchanges and the civil aeronautics administration's relay of weather reports to airports. New York workers are affiliated with the CIO.

But even as Brungs, W. L. Allen, international CTU president, and company representatives prepared to meet in a conference sponsored by the federal mediation service, Brungs said the union still was agreeable to arbitration as proposed by Conciliator J. 10,000 Tons of Food Is Goal Set for Magic Valley "Christmas Ship" Drive

(Coupon appears in column five and six, page two, for donations)

More than 8,000 cards seeking contributions of produce and money from rural areas of Magic Valley were mailed Tuesday in an attempt to reach a goal of 10,000 tons of food for the valley's "Christmas ship" drive, according to O. J. Bothne, Twin Falls drive chairman.

The cards, addressed to box holders on all rural mail routes, would authorize "Christmas ship" committees to withdraw produce from warehouses. In case produce is not available, rural residents may pledge money to be used to purchase food.

"The hand of charity should be extended to the starving people of Europe now. The time is short, the hungry cannot wait," Bothne said.

He pointed out that through two years of drought, Europe has been able to produce only a fraction of the food necessary to feed her people.

A deadline of Dec. 23 has been placed on contributions and drive chairmen throughout Magic Valley have asked that donations be made at the earliest possible date. Produce in the Twin Falls area is being collected at the E. S. Harper warehouse on the truck lane and cash donations will be received at either of the two local banks.

Bothne pointed out that cash donations will be turned into flour, wheat, dried beans and canned goods.

The Pacific northwest "Christmas ship" is underwritten and sponsored by the American Council of Voluntary agencies for foreign service through the American Friends service, Church World services, War Relief services and the National Catholic Welfare conference. The groups will supervise the distribution of food in Europe.

A telegram to Twin Falls drive headquarters from Daniel H. Halpin, "Christmas ship" committee chairman in the four western states, said, "Good work. Hope to see three loaded freight cars soon."

Trucks, donated by the national guard and the army recruiting station, will pick up donations in Twin Falls. Bothne explains that persons who have donations may have them picked up by phoning [illegible]

Stop-Gap Help Cut 88 Million By Committee

the amount asked for France was for items not directly related to emergency relief, and so was $22,000,000 of the Italian request. These items included such things as $25,000,000 for servicing of the French foreign debt.

The foreign-aid money is in a general appropriation bill which also provides funds for various other government uses.

The total in the measure is $772,504,000. The amount is 31 per cent below what the administration asked.

Army Cut Largest

The lragest reduction was in the fund for army government and relief in occupied areas, amounting to 53 per cent.

The committee cut $137,000,000 from the army's request for $237,000,000 for food and relief in the British occupied zone of Germany and trimmed $123,000,000 from food and relief estimates for United States occupied areas in Germany, Japan and Korea.

In cutting the army's requested funds for administration and relief in occupied areas, the committee said $237,000,000 of the original estimate represented the cost to the United States of feeding people in the British zone.

Urges Clear Agreement

It urged that there be "a clear and definite agreement between the two governments concerned (United States and Britain) setting forth in plain terms the obligations and responsibilities assumed by each government so that the congress when making appropriations can know exactly the program it is providing for."

The money provided, it said, will be adequate "until a proper agreement can be entered into."

The committee said it has information that administrative costs in the British zone of Germany are "excessive" and should be reduced to leave more money for actual relief.

Secret Report Told

The committee gave the house a report on testimony it took in secret from Robert A. Lovett, undersecretary of state.

The report disclosed that Lovett told the committee this about the emergency foreign aid:

"You will not get any of this back, in my opinion. I think you might just as well face up to that."

Lovett told it, too, that the aid program was no guarantee of European recovery but "the very hard, ugly choice between two risks."

City to Take Half of Slot Device Gross

chines." Rambo said he had "10 calls an hour on each machine." Each "breakdown" took from two minutes to two hours to fix, he said.

Rambo predicted Boise would veto a similar resolution "before this meeting here in Twin Falls will be completed."

Called "Illegal"

He pointed out that slot machines are legal. However, he said, "about 25 men" (slot machine operators) will have to pay between one-half and one-third of the city budget next year. He termed that "illegal."

When he asked the council what the body estimated the city would collect by the new ordinance, Councilman Greenhalgh told him "there in no reason why we should make an estimate."

Bob Wildman said he would like to put in an application "for the job of collector." He estimated the undertaking will require 20 skilled mechanics to service the machines. Moreover, he said "many veterans will be unable to open up."

Mrs. Mel Dolling, 1430 Maple avenue, said all licenses "should be equal." She asked why one person should have to pay $2,000 and another $100 when both are in the same type of business."

Calls Law "Socialistic"

She characterized "socialistic" any law which would permit a city employe to count out the receipts of "my mother's business" and practically manage it.

Vern Goldsmith, 427 Third avenue south, an ex-GI, characterized the encroachment of "government in business" the type of move upon "which isms live."

O. A. Buchanan, 134 Second street east, predicted the encouragement of burglaries. With the city holding the keys, he said, owners will be unable to empty their machines at night.

Buchanan said his store had been burglarized twice in the past four months.

Police Chief Howard W. Gillette later said the man who burglarized the stores had been sentenced to jail. Moreover, Gillette said, Buchanan had regained his money.

$205 Monthly for Collectors

Others who spoke were Bert Henry, Owl cafe; Bill Webster, Brunswick; J. E. Perkins and a man who identified himself as Robinson. The latter said the council had accomplished nothing in the past six or eight months.

Upon the conclusion of Robinson's remarks Mayor Lauterbach called a halt. The council proceeded to move rapidly through the measure, and then decided to pay collectors $205 a month, and "if necessary purchase up to two cars" for collection work.

Under provision of the new ordinance the collectors will open each machine at least twice a week, and give receipts to the operators. It will be unlawful for any operator to tamper with, or open, a machine. It will become effective Jan. 1.

Other business conducted by councilmen was routine and included decision to call for bids for construction of the administration building of the airport.

To Open Bids

By this resolution proposed by Councilman H. T. Grant and seconded by Councilman Orville H. Coleman bids will be opened on Jan. 5.

Lionel Dean asked the council to rescind the $92 fee paid by the Baptist church for permission to construct a $100,000 church. He was informed the council "would have to be guided" by regulations, and would "look into the matter."

Councilmen granted the Idaho Power company an easement in connection with the airport and fixed assessments for property owners for the construction of sewers and streets in the "veteran sub-division."

The city's water-stock vote in the Twin Falls Canal company in the Jan. 13 meeting was given to Mayor Lauterbach and to Barney Glavin in the Jan. 12 vote of the Salmon River-Canal company.

Canvas Chute To Speed up Air Rescuing

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Dec. 16 (AP)—A canvas escape chute, by which persons may speedily leave a plane after an emergency landing, is being installed by American airlines on its four-engine passenger planes.

This was announced yesterday when the civil aeronautics board opened an inquiry into accidents involving two Douglas DC-6 airliners, one the crash of a United Air Lines plane near Bryce canyon, Utah, last Oct. 24 in which 52 persons were killed.

Probe DC-6 Crash

The other accident under investigation is the emergency landing of a burning American airlines DC-6 at Gallup, N. M., last Nov. 11 in which there were no injuries. William K. Andrews, assistant director of the CAB here, said American airlines decided to install the escape chutes after receiving letters from passengers who said there was delay in getting off the plane at Gallup.

Andrews said American airlines expects to have the chutes on all their four-engine planes by Feb. 1.

American airlines spokesmen said the chute, to be used after a plane has landed, is attached to the hatchway or an emergency door. One crew member goes down a rope to hold the end of the chute on the ground. Then all the passengers slide down. A company spokesman estimated that by this method 50 persons could leave a plane in three minutes.

Gives Flight History

Robert W. Knight, American's director of operations, gave the CAB the flight history of the Gallup accident and read a letter from one passenger which said that evacuation from the smoke-filled cabin of the transport was extremely slow.

In both accidents the cause of the fire has been attributed to an overflow of gasoline swept into a cabin heater during transfer of fuel from one tank to another while aloft, Harold E. Hoben, American's director of research engineering, said.

JUST TALKING

At first the communists' strategy in the French strikes seemed as clear as it was distressing. Then along came this three-paragraph dispatch from Paris about a communist member of the assembly named Georges Gosnat. We wish that whoever sent or edited it had either given us more or else killed the thing. At it is, we're baffled.

The story said that Comrade Gosnat had cited the American movie, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," to justify his party's efforts—fortunately futile—to delay the vote on Premier Schuman's anti-strike law.

"The film, made several years ago, depicted a filibuster in the United States senate," the dispatch helpfully recalled. We also remember that it was made by Frank Capra in 1939 with James Stewart as the star, and that it was a good picture.

But what has this to do with Comrade Gosnat and the communist filibuster in the French assembly? What else did M. Gosnat say? How did he justify the reds' tactics by an appeal to "Mr. Smith?" Either the Paris reporter or the cable editor has denied us the knowledge.

Maybe the communist deputy said to the assembly's non-communist majority, "See, your blessed Americans do the same thing in their congress that we are doing in the assembly. You seem to think everything the Americans do is right. If it's all right for them, it's all right for us."

But, if he said that, he would be praising an American institution. And praise of anything American just isn't the communist fashion. In fact, Moscow frowns severly these days when its minions ascribe virtue to anything that isn't communist-inspired and communist-approved.

Perhaps M. Gosnat said something like this: "Here we have a motion picture typical of the decadent American mind. The Yankee press and public are forever attacking the filibuster and trying to do away with it. Yet the filibuster is a truly democratic process. It protects the rights of a minority."

In that case he would be in bad on two counts. He would still be praising an American political practice. He would also be criticising, by inference, the communists' tactics when they are in the majority.

A communist-controlled government does not, of course, respect the rights of minority opinion. There just isn't any recognized minority opinion. Such opinion, according to the Lenin-Stalin gospel, is expressed only by wreckers and traitors. So the communist majority doesn't only steam-roller the opposition. It puts it out of business by execution, imprisonment, and other forms of liquidation.

If Comrade Gosnat used this 8-year-old movie to justify his filibuster it must have been a case of his being damned if he did and damned if he didn't. The whole idea was contradictory and out of character, and it has caused us to waste altogether too much time trying to figure it out.

The only possible explanation that has come to us is that maybe Deputy Gosnat was citing "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" the way Huey Long used to read pot-likker recipes during his filibusters. Maybe Comrade Gosnat was just killing time. In that case the Thomas committee won't have to bother investigating "Mr. Smith," Mr. Capra and Mr. Stewart.

14 HUNTING DEATHS

Now that another hunting season has come to a close, it's well to remind all sportsmen that 14 individuals lost their lives in accidental shootings in Idaho this year.

One of the last such tragedies occurred in the vicinity of Caldwell. The victim was shot in the face by his brother-in-law who said he "saw something move in the brush and fired."

Level-headedness is something to be cultivated by every sportsman who carries a gun. That is the only way impulsive shooting and needless fatalities can be overcome.

[illegible] hunters are mindful of the fact they [illegible] risking their lives when they go into the forests. That's why they wear red caps and other brightly-colored clothing. It helps to keep other hunters from mistaking them for a deer.

One worthwile New Year's resolution for every hunter would be to make sure hereafter of whatever he might be shooting at before squeezing the trigger. No fleeting moment is important enough to take any chances in such cases, because one never knows when a human life is involved.

STABILITY

It has cheered us to learn that even in England, sorely beset as she may be, there are still some things that are permanent and unaltered by war.

For instance, a British travel agency recently asked several hundred American visitors what comments they had to make on their first postwar visit to the country. It reports that the Americans complained about only two things: The English climate and that witch's brew which the English call

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON—The nations of western Europe have not made a single major move to pool their resources, help one another or to implement the Marshall plan, although it is more than six months since the American secretary of state insisted on the utmost cooperation as a prerequisite for our aid. He has said again and again that our assistance would be ineffective unless accompanied with common effort on the part of the beneficiaries.

Nor have the South American countries made any special contribution to the rehabilitation and recovery program, although they have as great a stake as the United States in checking the spread of communism to such kindred nations as Spain, Italy and France, with which they have had cultural and economic ties for years.

DELAY—The cold fact is, as state department officials admit reluctantly, that the Marshall plan countries are counting on the United States to finance, feed and rebuild them. They apparently figure that intensification of our diplomatic, political and economic conflict with Russia forces us to support them.

Individual nations—Britain, France and Italy—have acted to stimulate production, to cut down imports as a means of conserving dollars, and to battle the communists. But they have not tried to iron out century-old differences or to make effective the blueprint of common action which the 16-nation conference framed at Paris.

The delay has been due, partially, to communist sabotage, which was set afoot by Moscow in an attempt to cripple the Marshall plan's operation. In France and Italy, the reds have fomented strikes and precipitated cabinet upsets that prevented Europe's statesmen from fulfilling the Marshall mandate which he enunciated at Harvard on June 5.

FACE—The program formulated at Paris raised high hopes for creation of a federated recovery effort in Europe. It seemed to promise a united front of 270,000,000 people against Soviet aggression.

The 16 nations agreed to forget ancient animosities and prejudices and to level trade barriers that have compartmentalized and frustrated European economy for so many years. They had been warned by American advisers on the scene that our aid would prove utterly ineffective unless they teamed together.

They agreed to form, economically at least, a western European union. They contracted to increase production, to renovate their industrial and transportation systems, to swap goods, food and labor by removing or bypassing tariff and labor laws. They arranged to straighten out the currency mess which has plagued commerce in this vast area.

As of today, none of these pledges have been kept. The only reason Secretary Marshall has not called them to account publicly—it is understood that he has done so privately—is that the U. S. would lose face, power and prestige in its encounter with Russia if it were to withdraw its offer at this late date. Russia's acceptance of the Marshall challenge forces us to carry on, as Europe's statesmen realize.

TRIED—It is true that individual nations have tried grimly and valiantly to put their houses in order.

Britain, for instance, has adopted an "austerity program" almost as bleak as wartime sacrifices and standards. It has banned luxury purchases, including American movies, tobacco and table tidbits, to save dollars. It has stepped up production and cut domestic consumption to boost exports and improve its balance of trade status.

Italy has driven the commies out of the government. Rome has also reduced prices and devalued the lira in order to crush the black market and improve living conditions as a bulwark against the communists.

France has struggled to prevent the reds inside and outside the government from paralyzing industry and transportation. Paris shows greater willingness to permit increased German production, and to join with England and the U. S. in unifying their zones in the reich if the foreign ministers fail to write a peace treaty with the former enemy at the current London conference.

BURDEN—Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg have been negotiating over the formation of a tariff-less, economic union. But this program was started long before promulgation of the Marshall plan, and it has run into technical difficulties that mean delay.

Several United Nations agencies have looked into such questions as an exchange of labor across frontiers, a sort of creation of a workers' pool, and standardization of railroad equipment. Gauges, rails and freight cars of different sizes have blocked the free and convenient movement of goods even more effectively than legalized discrimination. But all these plans are still in the study stage and far from fruition.

Many practical projects for self-help, it is admitted, could be taken without the advance of any American money, including an increase in production, the stimulation of trade and general underpinning of European economy. But so far there has been no serious, cooperative or concerted attempt by the beneficiary nations to pool or organize their resources in accord with the Marshall pronouncement, and thus lighten the burden on the United States.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

ATOMIC ENERGY ON THE FARM

It may be, as researchers like Jack DeMent, Portland fleuorchemist and atomic energy authority, maintain, that radioactive materials may prove more valuble to agriculture and sooner than atomic energy plants prove valuable in producing electric energy and driving ships and trains. In any event, experimental work now going on at Oregon State and Washington State colleges may add many millions of dollars worth of produce to the nation's agricultural yield.

Key to experiments is the radioisotope, by-product of the nuclear fission projects at Pasco, Washington, and Oak Ridge, Tennessee. These isotopes, distributed to more than 30 research laboratories in the United States and Hawaii, are being used for the Corvallis and Pullman experiments in agriculture. Their radioactivity permits their use as tracers through plant organisms, thus affording a medium for understanding plant life and plant nutrition to a degree never before possible. For example, radiopotassium and radiorubidium are being used to study soil chemistry of potash in the hope of finding more effective ways of furnishing nutrition to crops. Radiocalcium is being used to study the application of lime to soil. And research with radiophosphorus and radiochlorine may yield important knowledge on absorption by grain of the phosphate and chlorine in soil.

These experiments are spurred as a result of a recent estimate by William W. Waymack, Des Moines, editor and member of the atomic energy commission, that radioisotopes may be instrumental in increasing farm production in the United States by $240,000,000 a year. Think what that might mean. It would pay for the development of the atom bomb (it cost $2,000,000,000) in 10 years with $400,000,000 left over. Not to mention the defeat of hunger throughout the world—Oregon Journal.

POSY FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

A compliment that is earnest if not enviable was paid to the housewife by the gainfully employed workers of Detroit. Not one of them was willing to take over for a single day the duties of a housewife who was adjudged the hardest-working one in that city. The 18-hour day lacked appeal to the wage-earners.

More than occasionally, we suspect, it lacks appeal to housewives. Widely regarded as unemployed, they are actually overemployed. They are cook, maid, nurse, seamstress, purchasing agent, locater of lost articles, mother confessor and chief bottle washer.

For and on their behalf we strike up a battlecry: Housewives of the world, unite; not more than two 40-hour weeks every seven days! Dinner out twice a week!—Consideration and a half for overtime!—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

POT SHOTS

NICE GESTURE

Ernie Hoff, the T-N telegraph editor, thought it was a nice gesture for someone to send a dozen roses to his apartment, but he doesn't think so much of the method employed.

Ernie's wife answered the door to find a young man standing there with the familiar flower box. She gave Ernie a blank look but accepted the flowers which turned out to be a dozen bright red roses. Then came some questions and general kidding. Neither claimed responsibility.

The missus phoned the florist shop, but the call served only to intensify the confusion. Finally Ernie phoned the florist. It developed that a "little girl" had ordered the posies and also had charged them to Ernie.

"Come and get 'em," roared Ernie. And he still hasn't solved the identity of the obliging gal. But he's managed to crawl out of the doghouse.

I wish Heapa Huey would take a vote on slot machines to see if the majority of those persons who play them are not against them. Why?—Well, because we all have weaknesses and many a man goes home cussing himself and the slot machines because his whole check has been left in them.

Yes, I'm one of those guys who put the jackpot back in the machine in the hopes of getting another jackpot.

HIS LUCK'S ALL BAD

Some of you constituents may remember Roy Bosson who was Magic Valley editor of the T-N until he had to move to a lower elevation than Twin Falls because of his wife's health.

Judging from a little item on the Associated Press wire, ill health plagues the whole family. Here is the item from Little Rock, Ark.:

> "Roy Bosson's wife is recovering from an operation. (He had one in the summer.) His 5-year-old son has pneumonia. His 5-year-old daughter suffered an attack of food poisoning last night. His mother had a recurrence of a heart ailment. His sister fell and broke her arm and his brother-in-law was admitted to a hospital today with a stomach ailment."

Now d'ya feel lucky—and healthy?

SPECIALIZED SHOPPING

Dear Potsy:

As usual, I've been a mite tardy at getting out to do my Christmas shopping. Because I usually wait until the last possible day, I'm never too disappointed when I can't find just what I want.

Anyway, it was no surprise for me when I found everything had been well picked this year when I started shopping.

Do you suppose I'd have the same experience if I were shopping for chickens?

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Westbrook Pegler

WASHINGTON—The movie industry has firmly determined to eliminate from its payrolls 10 persons who recently were haled before the United States congress and refused to say whether they were members of the Communist party, a subversive organization.

If my ears do not deceive me, the magnates and their counsel meant these dismissals to be accepted as proof that they had cleaned house, absolutely, a little later, to be sure, but better late than never. That makes the score: 10 babies down; 100 more to go.

Illusion is the great art of the moving pictures. I hope the masters do not deceive themselves, but that is as it may be. One thing I can tell you plain, however: They haven't deceived the committee on un-American activities.

They did not proceed against these 10 until the industry had been dragged in leg-irons and handcuffs, so to speak, before the committee.

The agents of the industry tried to ridicule the committee but the fact finally got across to the people of the United States that this committee represented and actually personified them. It is a "committee of the house of representatives."

Say that last again. "Representatives."

These men are elected by direct vote of the people of the United States to "represent" them. They are more representative of the American people than the sneering, supercilious continental intellects of Hollywood realized.

They look just like so many people of the United States. Some of the members make amusing little mistakes in grammar and figures of speech. Those Hollywood intellectuals can sneer at these slips, but that is where they make a great mistake, themselves.

Many of the people of the United States also use double negatives and jumbled metaphors and they will not thank you for curling a lip at them. They will make you sorry.

All of a sudden, the men who represented the industry, stopped short and went into a solemn, frightened huddle in New York. The "people" were good and sore at them for paying unbelievable salaries to men who were in a position to poison the stream of culture and make it a sewer by the time it flowed through the theaters on a thousand Main streets, who refused even to say whether they were for or against the United States.

The "people" were supporting their "representatives" and they showed their sentiments in letters to the editors, to the theater managers and to the producers in Hollywood. They were starting to show it at the box-office, too.

They were good and tired of being lectured on "Americanism" by malicious doctrinaires who either came here from Europe or stretched an ear toward Europe for their guidance.

The racial and social problems of the United States are peculiar and our own, and are not to be dealt with peaceably by iron rules devised by Europeans.

The Americans were sore at Hollywood for scolding them and native American customs and traditions. Sore at Hollywood for advertising them to the world as failures at self-government and advertising the abundant life of the United States as a system composed 90 per cent of poverty and 10 per cent of disgusting vulgarity and cruel greed.

The most revolting vulgarity in the United States was not observed in the moral family circles of the decent well-to-do, depicted in the movies as the idle rich, but in the palaces and ranch-houses and camps and gambling resorts of the moving picture set.

Now, if Hollywood had an intelligent respect for the dignity and pride of the people of the United States, the industry would have taken the initiative, itself, long ago, to eliminate the communists.

How?

Well, how does Hollywood usually get rid of people who, for reasons of personal vengeance and racial bigotry are marked for elimination? By nodding them out, that is how. It has been done for years.

"Sorry, nothing today."

Nobody in Hollywood needed telling how to get rid of anyone without a trace and without risk of legal process. It is an old Hollywood art and custom.

But the industry wouldn't take the initiative and when the committee called the hearings, the Hollywood giants were still confident that by posing legalistic problems and repeating old European memory-gems about unfettered art and freedom of expression they could fool the people and continue on.

This time, though, the "representatives" of the "people" were sure-footed, cool and aggressive. They took no monkey-business. They were ready to prove with Communist party cards and other party records that a group of pampered voluntaries, forever snarling about our wicked system and the denial of opportunity, were communists.

And so the industry curled up and quit and tried to make a virtue of an act done under compulsion. It fired 10 men.

But there are still a hundred left. At least a hundred.

The industry apparently hopes that the committee will forget them and take off after some other suspects.

But the "representatives" of the "people" are not asleep but just squinting, waiting to see whether Hollywood will do the rest of the job honestly and voluntarily.

It is much too early to cheer while the mourner on the bench is bawling repentance, but with his wicked mind on a rendezvous with sin a mile out of town come sundown.

Here's one for the history book or Bob Ripley's "Believe It or Not."

In Worcester, Mass., they just held a solemn moment of silence for one of America's true historical figures . . . the turtle that was a veteran of the Civil war. The report says he passed away quietly under his favorite rock.

Just imagine the exciting stories he must have told his grandchildren about how he crawled under the battle of Vicksburg. In fact, the soldiers wouldn't let him out of one barrack. He got trapped in a shell game.

I heard he even witnessed the surrender between Grant and Lee. Of course, nobody knew it . . . he stood there quietly, acting like a rock.

But it was tough being a turtle during the war between the states. He started taking a hike with Stonewall Jackson and, when he stuck his head out again he was marching through Georgia with Sherman.

Being from a family of patriots, his grandson was in this last war. He was with the camouflage troops modeling for small tanks.

And he had his troubles, too. He spent four years overseas in the army of occupation and they made him furnish his own transportation back.

But there is one 80-year-old turtle in South Carolina who heard about the death of this old veteran and just muttered, "I knew I'd out-laugh that fool Yankee."

BUTTER-KRUST'S New

has won such distinction we have had its name preserved for all time

There'll be only one "SCOTCH ALLWHEAT"—that genuinely outstanding loaf of bread which the bakers of BUTTER-KRUST recently introduced to the people of Magic Valley. Its name has been registered with the secretary of state to protect its identity at all times. Never before in all its years of bread baking success has BUTTER-KRUST enjoyed such a spontaneous demand for a new product. "SCOTCH ALLWHEAT" is a "natural" in every sense of the word—so much so that we decided to have its name preserved. It's a loaf of bread that already has won a real name for itself!

There's something about "SCOTCH ALLWHEAT" that's causing an enthusiastic demand. You'd better try a loaf if you haven't already had that pleasing experience.

Real 'Answer' Is Awaited on Ruble Change

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

People with just an ordinary understanding of economics will do just as well to sit back for a while and see what happens in Russia (as far as we will ever be permitted to see) before trying to make up their minds as to what all the flurry over the ruble is about.

The usual rules do not apply to a totalitarian economy, and the recollection of prewar predictions about the shakiness of Hitler's Germany are sufficient to cause wariness now. The real value of the ruble has been one of the "mootest" questions for a long time. There are too many variations in buying principles in Russia. For instance, some workers are paid in "1936" rubles, worth more than inflated wartime currency.

Few Things Clear

Only a few things seem fairly clear.

The one result overshadowing all others seems to be that the government has, by one swipe of the eraser, reduced its bonded debt to the people of Russia by some two-thirds.

It is quite possible that this mobilization of the country's wealth in government hands is calculated to create a sounder currency to help establish a "ruble bloc" within the Russian sphere to combat the dollar and sterling areas which are cooperating in the Marshall plan.

Subject to Dangers

Also the revaluation is an admission that the vaunted totalitarian economic system is subject to the same inflationary troubles that beset the rest of the world.

In any evaluation of Russia's general position it must be borne in mind that, to a certain extent, her shortages are planned shortages. For 25 years she has spent a major portion of her national budget on armaments and on the development of heavy industry which can produce more armaments when needed. Everything has been subordinated to give her foreign policy the backing of her every possible ounce of military strength. When the answer to the present monetary upheaval is found, it very probably will be discovered somewhere within that policy.

On Track of New Milk Cooler

When Harold L. Brevick, Wendell, research fellow at the University of Idaho, gets through with his tests he hopes to have an efficient milk cooler for the small Idaho dairy farmer. In a recent survey, Brevick found that thousands of dollars are being lost annually through souring of milk due to improper cooling. (Staff engraving)

Student From Wendell Seeking Milk Cooler for Smaller Dairies

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Dec. 16—Design of a milk cooler for the small Idaho dairy farmer who milks five or six cows and has 20 to 30 gallons of milk a day for the processing plant is the next step in an agricultural engineering research project at the University of Idaho.

Just what milk cooling means in the dairy industry of Idaho has been brought out in a research progress report by Harold L. Brevick, research fellow in agricultural engineering at the University of Idaho.

Brevick's interest in the problems of the small dairy farmer began in his boyhood days on a southern Idaho diversified farm. The son of C. H. Brevick, Route 2, Wendell, Harold spent 18 years helping care for a 10-cow herd. Graduating from Wendell high school in 1938, he was in the army in the Pacific area three and one-half years, receiving his degree in agricultural engineering from the University of Idaho last June.

During the last summer, Brevick visited 13 milk processing plants and nearly 200 dairy farms in the state. In one day, he reported, one plant rejected 160 cans of sour milk, another plant rejected 155 cans.

Brevick's activity in the milk cooling field is under a research grant from the Idaho Power company.

Rapid cooling after milking is essential in the production of quality milk, Brevick reports. When milk is quickly cooled there is little bacterial increase. Left uncooled for a few hours the multiplication is staggering.

Ike Regarded 'Man to Beat' In GOP Race

By JACK BELL
AP Political Reporter

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—Political strategists for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Sen. Robert Taft said today they have come to regard Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as potentially the hardest man to beat for the Republican presidential nomination.

Dewey supporters say the retiring army chief of staff may become the strongest sort of a darkhorse contender if the New York governor is unable to break through the array of major candidates and favorite sons early in the convention. The Dewey forces now concede privately this field will block any first ballot nomination at Philadelphia in June.

Taft Backers Worry

Similarly, a Taft strategist said the Ohio senator's backers think Eisenhower, rather than any of the other most frequently mentioned candidates, may become the man they have to beat to get the nomination.

This concentration on Eisenhower, expected to retire early next year to become president of Columbia university on June 7, promises to have some effect on the type of campaign conducted by the major candidates.

Stassen Puts Pressure

All of them, including former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, are likely to exert every possible effort to force Eisenhower into the open and get him on the record on national issues as early as possible.

Regardless of the Eisenhower developments, Dewey is described by his friends as being determined not to announce his candidacy formally before the convention meets. His attitude, they say, is that the Republican party knows that (A) he is available, (B) he has largely made his record by his actions as governor and his declarations on public policy questions and (C) the party will call on him again if it thinks he would be the candidate most likely to win.

SICE Instructor Speaks at Legion Dinner in Burley

BURLEY, Dec. 16—Approximately 140 American Legion and auxiliary members and guests attended a holiday dinner Friday night at the Odd Fellows hall. Dean Kloepfer served as toastmaster.

Tables were decorated with lighted red candles, greenery, and white painted branches. Robert Heilig, accompanied by Mrs. Sherman Hawley, sang two numbers, and the junior high school choral group sang a group of Christmas carols, accompanied by Elsie Gochnour. Howard Corless, accompanied by Mrs. Glen Short, sang two numbers.

M. Alvin Kempton, instructor at SICE, Albion, was the speaker. He said that he believed the United States should maintain large defensive units as long as other nations are continuing to have big armies. As soon as other nations begin to disarm, he added, this country should go along.

Mayor Joe Peters, a guest, gave a short talk and told of plans in which the Legion and city would work out recreational activities for children in Burley. Mrs. L. J. Radloff, auxiliary president, gave a short talk.

Non-perishable food was brought to the dinner to be put in baskets for the needy at Christmas time. During the auxiliary meeting, Mrs. Sherman Hawley was named historian.

Slav Sentries Camera Shy at Trieste Border, Scribe Finds

By VIRGIL PINKLEY

TRIESTE FREE STATE, Dec. 16 (UP)—Yugoslavia sentries are camera shy. They act as if a pointed camera were a machinegun. Therein lies a sad story of two worlds.

Today I visited outpost No. 7, a few miles north of Trieste on the boundary between the three territory and Yugoslavia where the Russian and western worlds meet. This outpost, like others within easy mortar range of the big Yugoslav fourth army along some 30 miles of line, is manned by half-a-dozen American soldiers 24 hours a day.

There are 5,000 Americans in this small strategic area. Their job along with their British allies is to act as a symbol to discourage any Slav tide from moving into Italy. These lads with the word "trust" on their shoulder patches are members of the 351st regiment.

The GIs are well-disciplined but they know they could do little against a determined attack.

"If you don't think we're just a symbol, take a look at that rugged high ground all around us," they said calmly. "That's Yugoslavia. If the Jugs ever really try to come in here, it's Bataan all over again for us."

The Americans, under command of Col. Numa A. Watson, live in a warm pineboard shack. They have first class winter clothing, weapons, food, field glasses, cameras, radios and modern field communications.

They guard an ordinary red-and-white painted steel rail roadblock in pairs, day and night. They think it is a little silly. All they do is control civilian traffic using the asphalt road to get from their homes in Yugoslavia to their fields or jobs in the free territory, or vice versa.

Only 25 yards down the road is a similar Yugoslav roadblock symbolic of the iron curtain. It also is composed of a steel rail, but in front of it, guarding the exit from Yugoslavia, are two additional stone barricades.

These are three-foot walls of loose stones. Each is built three-fourths of the way across the road, starting from either side and overlapping in the center. Traffic must make a slow zigzag to get through.

The Yugoslav sentries are billeted in a cave in the side of the mountain beside the road. The cave is covered with a piece of sheet iron.

The guard at the road block during my visit was a large, tough-looking soldier carrying a German Mauser rifle and a German army cartridge belt. His cape, greatcoat, pants and boots were of Russian color, cut and make. It was cold, but he wore no gloves.

The Americans said the Yugoslav sentries were neither friendly nor unfriendly, but incredibly camera shy. Some of us stood against the American road block while one levelled a camera. The lens looked at us and on past toward the Yugoslav sentry.

The sentry promptly turned his back. Then he retired into the cave, completely out of sight. He came out several minutes later, but kept his back to the camera, peeking over his left shoulder.

Colonel Watson said this behavior was common with Yugoslav troops all along the line. He attributed it to the use of seemingly harmless photographs in Yugoslav political trials, with damaging results.

The iron curtain seems silly when you get up next to it—but both American and Yugoslav sentries at outpost No. 7 held their rifles at ready, with bayonets fixed.

Analyst Views No Cause for Russ Concern

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

There is no occasion for excitement, among either friends or foes of Russia, in Moscow's announcement of decision to revalue the ruble as a counter-measure against the inflation which has beset the country.

Inflation isn't a malady which attches itself to any particular form of economy, but is as common as measles in these unhealthful postwar days. Even mighty America has a rash and the siffles. So we shouldn't jump to conclusions about the seriousness of the Soviet sickness, despite the fact that a fortnight ago rumors of the forthcoming revaluation precipitated wild, buying of durable goods of all sorts, ranging from clothing to choice china.

Far From Happy

Naturally the Russian man-in-the-street and his family are far from happy to have the ax applied to their savings. The Moscow radio said the exchange rate for cash will be as high as 10 old rubles for one of the new issue, and a 90 per cent slash in hard-earned savings is tough.

There's some easement of the hardship in the qualification that for deposits in savings banks, amounts up to 3,000 rubles will be exchange at the even rate of one for one. Also, the government promises that rationing will be abolished on all food and industrial goods this month.

"False Ruble" Inflation

The official decree regarding devaluation said that the new currency is necessary because wartime monetary issues and a flood of false rubles put out by invading German troops inflated the economy so that some goods have been selling from 10 to 15 times their prewar price. The decree also aims at speculators who have been "accumulating great amounts of money, aiming at profits at the expense of the population."

So far as the economy of communism is concerned, only time will demonstrate exactly what effect it will have on Russia and the countries which Moscow has brought under red domination. One thing seems clear, and this is that a totalitarian government can make any sort of economy—no matter how extreme—work for a time.

Grangers Follow Christmas Theme

Members of the Juvenile Grange presented the lecturer's program in a yuletide theme at the Friday evening session. Christmas trees and decorations on the tables carried out the holiday motif.

Master Ray Moon presented a report on the state Grange convention in Twin Falls, and a pie social was held at close of the gathering.

After community singing of Christmas carols, the welcome reading was given by Marilyn McCaslin. Other numbers included: piano duet, Colleen and Buddy Moon; reading by Tommy Smith; military tap dance by Roberta Rayl, accompanied by Clifford McCaslin; vocal selection by Barbara and Billy Riedeman; reading by Sandra Smith; piano and trumpet duet by Glen McCaslin and Billy Rayl; reading by Mary Lou Rayl, and a playlet by Gayle Peterson, Norma Lee and Billy Dean.

Santa Claus appeared at the meeting and gave out treats to the children.

Jack Farrar was reinstated in the Grange as a member.

ISN'T THIS A TEST OF GOVERNMENT ITSELF?

The Taft-Hartley law, recently enacted by the United States congress to exercise some control over extremes which have been employed by some of the country's labor leaders, should be just as effective as any other federal statute.

But certain unions nevertheless are defying this new law openly. In effect, the Meat Cutters Union of the American Federation of Labor is doing that very thing right here in Twin Falls with the attack it is making against our places of business.

Not only are the Meat Cutters insisting upon a "closed shop" contract which the Taft-Hartley law prohibits, but it is resorting to a secondary boycott, also illegal under this new legislation.

We have a letter from Fred A. Hartley, jr., co-author of the Taft-Hartley law, who has been notified of the Meat Cutters' strike in Twin Falls and familiarized with its details.

"I wish to advise you that this is definitely a secondary boycott," writes Mr. Hartley, "and is the kind of violation at which the committee aimed in writing the Taft-Hartley act."

In referring to the "unlawful pitcketing" which the Meat Cutters' Union is conducting in this instance, Mr. Hartley has advised us not only to file a complaint with the Seattle office of the National Labor Relations Board but to go into court as well and "take civil action against any persons who are responsible for a financial loss in (our) business."

Coming from no less an authority than Mr. Hartley himself, we believe this analysis of the Meat Cutters' strike in Twin Falls bears out our contention that we are justified in refusing to accept their unreasonable demands, particularly the "closed shop."

After all, isn't this a test of government itself?

Final Chance Of East-West Accord Fails

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP)—Almost the last barriers to outright political and economic war between the western powers and Russia were swept away in the collapse of the big four conference on Germany.

The United States, Great Britain and France may now be expected to move with speed and precision—probably early next year—to unify western Germany and join its resources with the Marshall plan for reconstruction of western Europe.

The restraints on western policy which existed before the failure here—a failure that eliminated the last chance of big four unification of Germany—have ceased to be. Zone merger, which in the case of the British and American zones has been purely economic, may now become the basis for eastern German political administration as well.

Plans Known

The plans and speculations of western diplomats—which are yet to be confirmed by formal policy decisions of their governments—have been known for weeks. It was against the consolidation of western Germany as well as for Russia's reparations claims that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov fought hardest in the conference.

It is not known what Russia intends to do. The Russians do not telegraph important punches. They are capable of swift, decisive action, and in the present crisis such action is expected of them.

Persons closely associated with Secy. of State George C. Marshall speculate that once the western powers begin to unify western Germany, the Russians will undertake the open creation of a political structure in the east.

Two Reichs Seen

Thus there may emerge in the months ahead two German governments, each speaking with the voice of German nationalism as well as the sentiments of the power or powers supporting it. As far as Germany goes, the danger of reviving nationalism and playing upon the differences between the allied victors of World war II may be near at hand.

And just as the west intends to build the resources of its part of Germany into the recovery of western Europe, so the Russians may follow the line of integrating their eastern zone into the economic-political system which their satellite states recently have been creating through trade agreements and assistance pacts.

Suggest Another Parley

The nearest thing to positive achievement of the London meeting was the suggestion put forward by Marshall and British Foreign Secy. Ernest Bevin that some time, somewhere, another meeting should be held.

To keep the big four talking, to keep up the slender bridges that still connect Washington, London and Paris with Moscow, becomes the task of big four diplomacy, pending the time when conditions are more suitable than they were here for a general settlement between east and west.

Severe Test Due

That time probably will not come until there has been a severe test of strength between the contending forces—until the fate of the Marshall plan and Russian organization of eastern Europe are known.

Meanwhile, the fate of all Europe as well as of the big powers themselves is deeply involved, and the imperatives of trade—resulting in such arrangements as the new British-Soviet trade pact—and a kind of general feeling that the issues can be settled, short of war, are the only restraints that remain to reassure the worried citizens of the world.

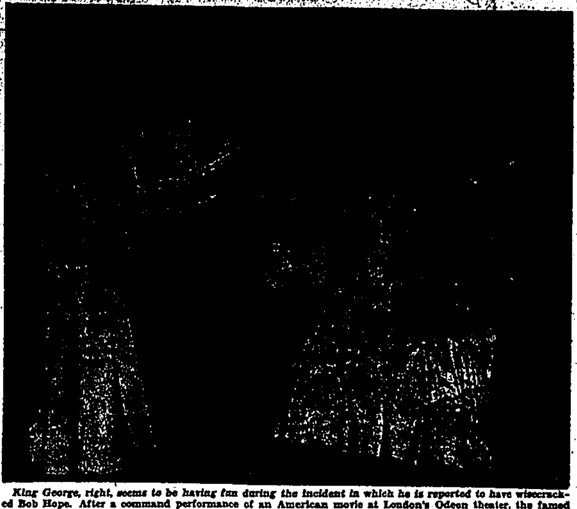
Comedian Is Stooge for Royal Wisecrack



King George, right, seems to be having fun during the incident in which he is reported to have wisecracked Bob Hope. After a command performance of an American movie at London's Odeon theater, the famed radio and screen comedian is showing Princess Margaret the album of autographed pictures of Hollywood celebrities which was a wedding gift for Princess Elizabeth. The king is said to have jibed, "He's looking for his own picture." Looking on are King Michael of Romania and Queen Elizabeth.

This Is Anniversary of Day World Caved in, Boyle Says

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—This is the day the world fell in, three years ago in Belgium.

It is the anniversary of the opening of the famous "Battle of the Bulge"—a Johnny-come-late version by Germany of Japan's disaster-laden surprise blow at Pearl Harbor.

Hal Boyle

It should also be a red-letter day in the American military calendar forever, a reminder that a falling foe always has a convulsive throe before his end, a snake its final fang.

The battle began on a dark morning of snowy horror with the allied top command convinced war on the western front would be over in a matter of weeks. By that same nightfall realistic officers who had survived the German break-through at Kasserine gap in Africa knew that the American armies were fighting for their very lives.

Out of nowhere the beaten enemy had suddenly rallied its last reserves of tanks and guns manned by tough young SS troopers. They came in an arc of crimsoned steel they hoped would save the fatherland, and they giggled sadistically as they slew.

They chose with Teutonic consistency to attack in an area the Americans had lightly defended in one of the "calculated risks" necessary in all warfare. But the nazi leaders knew the land as you do the road to your own garage—because twice before, in 1914 and 1940, they had rolled through these pine-clad Ardenne mountains on the way to France.

Through two thinly strung out American divisions they charged—the battle-worn 28th infantry and the untried 106th—and plunged on for more than 40 miles to within three miles of the Meuse river, a goal that would have cut the allied forces in half.

Preparing to launch their own razzle-dazzle across the Rhine, the allies had been caught napping by the oldest play in football — a straight line buck.

What saved them was the courage of combat engineers at road blocks and isolated units, hopelessly cut off, who delayed the nazi surge for vital hours and stained the white fields with the red tide of anonymous valor. By the nature of this chaotic battle, the heroism of hundreds of individual men will lack even the brief remembrance of a medal.

When the German tanks ran dry of gasoline and stranded, the airmen of England and America raked them with rocket and bomb. But to the doughboys on the ground fell the cold torture of driving back the enemy over all the lost miles of forest and mountain.

And for the third straight year the army, which boasts it is the best fed and best-clothed in the world, had been caught without proper supplies of winter equipment. Infantrymen wore their shoulders raw dragging food, water and ammunitions across the snow-locked hills.

Tree limbs snapped and fell in a crystal wilderness, and cold climbed up the legs of doughboys in frigid foxholes and froze them into khaki logs.

At one field hospital they carried in a captured German soldier, his leg black with gangrene.

"It'll be a change at least to take off a nazi leg," said a surgeon grimly. "I've been taking frozen legs off American boys all morning."

Well, that nightmare of three years ago is faded now for both the quick and the dead. The quick are back in civilian life and the Ardennes dead are still being brought back to parents who want their boys at home.

Only another war—if it comes—will show whether America truly learned the bitter lesson the Germans gave in Belgium's Valley Forge of 1944.

Utah University To Acquire Fort

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 16 (UP)—A further step toward acquisition of Fort Douglas by the University of Utah had been taken here today.

The Fort Douglas civic committee yesterday approved proposed amendments to the surplus property act of 1944 which places disposal of fort property under the direction of the war assets administration and gives the university a higher priority.

Dr. A. Ray Olpin, university president, said that if the university desires to acquire the fort with a view toward preserving its historic character the school will have top priority except for federal agencies.

Chain's Chief Says Business 'Softens'

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 16 (UP)—A little "softening" of business has been noted recently in the south and west, according to H. Tracy Fowler, vice president and general manager of Walgreen Drug company of Chicago.

In Salt Lake City to confer with local officials of the company, Fowler said that generally speaking business has been good throughout the United States. But he said the drop in sales volume in sections of the country means that "we will have to work a little harder for business than we have in the past few years."

Trucker, Helped By Lug-Wrench, Licks Big "Cat"

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 16 (AP)—A 29-year-old Magna, Utah, truck driver came out the victor in a battle with a 45-pound female bobcat Saturday—thanks to the effectiveness of a lug wrench handle.

Neal H. Haun, who displayed the battered carcass of the cat along with a few scratches on his hands, told this story:

Haun was driving his semi-trailer diesel truck on U. S. highway 30 enroute to Salt Lake City from Rock Springs, Wyo. The bobcat bounded into the highway as the truck was traveling through Echo canyon.

The Magna man attempted to run over the animal and thinking the truck wheels had struck it he alighted. Haun armed himself with a lug wrench handle "just in case."

The cat was lying motionless near one of the rear wheels. Haun approached it and the animal attacked. Haun hit the cat "three or four times" with the 18-inch handle before it was subdued.

Santa Greeted by 3,000 in Burley

BURLEY, Dec. 16—Santa Claus arrived on schedule here at 10:45 a. m. Saturday in a bright red airplane. After landing at Burley airport, he was escorted into town on the Burley fire truck, accompanied by a group of Boy Scouts and police officials.

Nearly 3,000 bags of candy, nuts and fruit were distributed to children by Santa, who set up his headquarters on the steps of the courthouse. Boy Scouts assisted in distributing the treats to the children.

Earl H Carlson was chairman of arrangements for the annual visit of Santa, and was assisted by John Rue, Charles C. Balch, F. R. Talbert and Ed Trebelcock.

City police reported that the entire celebration was orderly and without mishap aside from the fact that several "lost" children were brought to the police station during the day.

$450 Jump in Living's Cost Told by BLS

figures of $850 in New York, $856 in Seattle and $792 in Cincinnati, or around $15 a week.

The 33 1/3 per cent increase in food costs was the greatest for any budget item except local taxes, which increased sharply everywhere—in some cities as much as 100 per cent.

Cost of housing increased little from March, 1946, to last June, the report said, but under the new rent control act "rents have risen further."

The budget provided for automobile ownership by 40 per cent of the families in New York, Chicago and Philadelphia and by 74 per cent in the other 31 cities. The report remarked:

"Typically, the cars owned by families at the budget level are about eight years old and cost about $350 (after trade-in allowances) in 1941. At that time, cheap second-hand automobiles were available.

"This budget does not allow for the replacement of automobiles at the current high proces. It makes an allowance of only $135 a year toward the purchase of a car."

UN and Finances Are Discussed at League Meetings

Twin Falls League of Women Voters continued its study of the United Nations at a recent meeting held at the American Lutheran church. Mrs. A. Stanley Christensen led a question-and-answer session and the general discussion which followed.

At previous meetings the group has considered the general assembly and security council. Last week's lesson dealt with the economic and social council and the international court of justice. They discussed in some detail the three main purposes of the council which are to promote employment and higher standards of living; find solutions to international economic, social, cultural, educational, health and other related problems, and develop universal respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms.

The strengths and weaknesses of the world court were considered and Mrs. Christensen advised the members to study the subject further in newspaper reports and magazine articles.

Monday evening a special committee met at the home of Mrs. H. A. Boe to begin a study of city finance which will be presented in report form at a general membership meeting of the group after the first of the year. Mrs. Frank Leit and Jeanette Steinhauer, members of the committee, were assisted in planning by Mrs. R. L. Summerfield, president of the league.

Mrs. Summerfield announced that Irene Sweeney, national executive secretary of the League of Women Voters, will visit the Twin Falls group in January. Miss Sweeney's last official call in Twin Falls was in October.

Mothers are wise!

The country over, Nucoa is the margarine most mothers choose. And now that it's plentiful, you can't please them with substitutes.

Mothers may not know that Nucoa margarine is new-churned the year round, on order only... that the makers of Nucoa refine their own nutritious vegetable oils... make their own milk culture... to insure Nucoa's uniformly fine flavor and texture.

But mothers recognize the results of this care.
They say, "Nucoa always tastes so sweet and fresh!"
They know that Nucoa pleases both family and guests at their table. They see their children thrive on Nucoa.
So more mothers choose Nucoa than any other margarine.
Nucoa's so good "it melts in your mouth!"

Basketball's Best Shots

One of a series by foremost coaches written for NEA Service.

By GORDON RIDINGS
Columbia Coach

Gordon Ridings

NEW YORK—Basketball's best plays are saved for late stages in a game, especially when the sides are evenly matched and the defense is pressing.

A typical situation for this type of play was in the Dartmouth-Columbia game last winter. The score was 56-56 in the closing minutes.

Sherry Marshall, indicated in the accompanying diagram as (1), took the ball from out-of-bounds under Dartmouth's basket. Al Vogel (2) was on the right, Bill Lockwood (4) the left, Walt Budko (3) at the rim of our free throw circle and Norm Skinner (5) in the flat to the left.

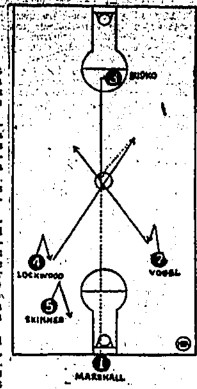
As the ball was put in play, Vogel and Lockwood feinted down court, then came back toward Marshall. Skinner feinted toward Marshall as Budko went to his right and cut sharply straight to the center of the court to receive a pass from Marshall.

Vogel and Lockwood, having completed their fakes, crossed in front of Vogel, where Budko could pass to either.

In the Dartmouth game, he chose Lockwood the first time.

On the same play a little later, Budko passed to Vogel, and Columbia won, 60-56.

The play was designed because Budko, our high scorer who broke the Ivy league record last season with 191 points, was being closely guarded.



Columbia's play for pressing defense.

NEXT: Iowa's triple pass.

SICE Panthers Rally To Beat Boise Quint

RUPERT, Dec. 16—Spotting the Broncos a half dozen inches in height per man, Coach Gene Cooper's Southern Idaho College of Education Panthers defeated the Boise Junior college in a basketball game here last night, 43-29.

The game was a close affair for the first half, which ended 17-17, but Amende and Ferrin, who had been held scoreless up to the time, got hot, counting seven field goals between them, in the second half and the Albion team slowly pulled away.

Playing with the Boise team was two Magic Valley athletes, Joey Acaiturri from Burley and Chet Humphries from Jerome.

Stimson with four field goals and two free throws paced Albion, while Grider had nine points to lead the visitors.

The two teams will play at Albion Tuesday night.

Coach States Vandal Cagers To Need Break

MOSCOW, Dec. 16 (AP)—They can bring out the crying towel and dust off a fresh seat on the northern division mourner's bench now that Chuck Finley has arrived at Idaho.

The new Vandal basketball coach seems sure his boys will need all the breaks plus a few assists from the officials just to get suited up for the games.

Finley was hailed as one of the country's top basketball players when he starred at Maryville Teachers' college in Maryland and in the professional ranks. He developed an envitable reputation as a coach at New Mexico School of Mines.

But those were the good old days. Now he is just an uninstructed newcomer in a conference he knows nothing about except that it is too tough for the poor kids he will have to lead to the slaughter every week.

Lucky to Win Three

"We will be lucky to win three games," he drawls. There is no alarm or bitterness in the drawl—just a resigned sadness.

Does he mean three conference games?

"Oh, no," he says, surprised. "I mean all season.

But the Vandals had just swamped North Idaho College of Education twice.

"Yes, sir," he agrees, "and I just can't see where that third game is coming from."

Doesn't Idaho have any returning lettermen?

"Oh, we have six boys who played enough to earn their letters. But you know how those things are—."

But Idaho at least has Jack Phoenix. After all, when a player is six feet nine inches tall and has been playing in the conference two years. . .

Working on Mistakes

"Well, Jack might do us some good. He works off balance a lot and that hampers his scoring, but he is working on his mistakes."

What about Wendell Christensen? He is small, but isn't he fast and aggressive and a good ball handler?

"Yes, but a little erratic on his shooting. Now if he can learn to shoot with both hands like all the really good speed boys do—."

But he already shoots with either hand.

"Oh, yeat, we're trying to teach them all to do that."

Finley eventually admits that he has several boys who might learn to play basketball. There is forward John Evans, a letterman, who has just put away his football suit. Letterman Jay Gano can relieve Phoenix at center. Forward Dick Geiser and Guard John Taylor are lettermen.

Also there are some newcomers who are fast and alert—Bob Linck, Preston Brimhall, Jack Rainey, Jack Wallace, Joe Grove and several others.

In fact, it could be the fastest Idaho team in several years, but Finley wouldn't call it a fast-breaking team—not before he spring it on the conference, at least.

Flier to Defend His Hunting Plan

BOISE, Dec. 16 (AP)—Les Randolph, Boise, president of the Idaho Aircraft Operators association, will appear at the Idaho Wildlife federation convention here Jan. 11 and 12 to respond to sportsmen's charges that use of aircraft to transport hunters to the primitive area is detrimental to game, he announced today.

Sportsmen groups have argued that aircraft transportation takes unfair advantage of those who pack in, that hunters traveling by aircraft skip checking stations, that airplanes are used to haze game toward more favorable shooting spots and that out-of-state hunters using air travel neglect to obtain Idaho hunting licenses.

Outlaw Basket Meeting Sunday

GOODING, Dec. 16—Leigh Ingersoll, superintendent of Gooding schools and vice president of the 1946-47 Magic Valley Outlaw Basketball league, announced today that a meeting to reorganize the league would be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in Nel's cafe at Jerome.

Ingersoll called the meeting after a conference with Earl Williams, Jerome high school principal who was secretary of last season's league.

Improved Punting

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic bureau isn't prepared to say that college football is using a rabbit ball, a development some suspected of baseball last season.

Nothing like that. But no matter whether they're kicking with gas, the bureau will shake a fistful of gridiron satistics in support of its conclusion that the foot definitely has returned to football, with the past season boasting the flossiest punting since 1939.

As for individuals, Leslie "Footsie" Palmer of North Carolina State, set a collegiate all-time mark with a 43.3 yard average for his 65 spirals, greatest number ever punted by a season leader.

And as for the teams, 11 clubs boasted an average of better than 40 yards per boot, something that hasn't happened in such profusion since 1939. There were only three last year, none in 1943 and 1945 and only two in 1944.

Duke captured the punting crown with its 41.9 yard average.

1,453,859 SEE GAMES

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16 (AP)—Football drew 1,453,859 spectators to Memorial coliseum this fall, perhaps an all-time high for any bowl, Robert Burns, president of the Coliseum commission, reported. The total attendance for 29 events represented an increase of 293,200 over the 1946 grid draw.

30 Aspirants to Golden Gloves Tourney Fame Work Out; Trainer Mattson Discovers "Boxing Sensation"

More than 30 aspirants to Golden Gloves tournament fame worked out under Trainer Matty Mattson and Loyal Smith at the Twin Falls labor camp auditorium last night, leading many followers of fistic events to predict that the novice entry at least in the annual boxing extravaganza would be larger than ever before.

Candidates in nearly every weight put in their appearance, including a 245-pound heavyweight that Mattson said he would like to match with Bob Crandall, last year's northwest champion, who is now boxing under the colors of the Brunswick A. C.

Crandall also worked out under the supervision of Frankie Sanger and showed that right now he is in better condition than he was when he won the title.

Earlier in the day, boxers affiliated with the VFW went through their paces under the trained eye of Bill Moran.

Mattson said that among the Legion boxers he had found a fighter that "really will be the sensation of the 1948 tournament."

"I'm not announcing his name nor his weight just now," said Mattson, "but he's a natural—one of those boys that come along once in a lifetime. He never had a glove on until a few days ago but he boxed like he had been in the ring several years."

Doug Bean, former athletic officer of the local Legion post who directed last year's tournament, returned from Salt Lake City with the news that Joe Christianson, president of the Intermountain A. A. U., had approved the Legion's application for membership in the amateur organization, removing the only barrier in the way of the tournament.

Beans said that the Rotary Boys club, West Jordan and the Kiwanis Athletic club would send teams to the local tournament.

The boxers' bus will leave for the labor camp auditorium at 7:15 p. m. today and Thursday from the Perrine hotel.

POLIDORI BEATS PERKINS

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 16 (AP)—Remo. Polidori, Tooele, Utah, took a close decision from Paul Perkins, Salt Lake City, last night in the ten-round feature bout at the Fairground Coliseum. Polidori weighed 158, Perkins 158.

Willard Chipman, Salt Lake City, knocked out Kid Flores, Morley, Colo., in 54 seconds of the second round of their preliminary. Chipman weighed 130, Flores 127.

BUCS FACE BRUINS TONIGHT

Hays Will Show New System of Basketball

Coach George Hays, who amazed followers of Magic Valley athletics by pulling Rupert high school out of the sports doldrums with championships in basketball, football and track, tonight will show the Twin Falls fans his 1947-48 edition of the basketball Bucs and with them a new system of basketball. The Bucs will tangle with Coach J. S. Halliday's Bruin team that has lost to Oakley but gave the local fans hopes with a triumph over Gooding. Hays will send what is said to be the best junior varsity aggregation in Rupert's history against Coach Morrie Roth's Cubs in the preliminary encounter starting at 7:30 p.m.

The new system of basketball that Hays will place on display is "touch-and-go," which he does not expect to be really in operation until his players become better acquainted with it later in the season, but which has yielded to a trio of victories and no defeats to date.

Lack Champions' Height

The team that will face the Bruins hasn't the height of the two aggregations that did not lose a regular game to a Magic Valley quintet and went on to win Big Seven and district championships in 1945-46 and 1946-47 seasons. However, cage critics say the Bucs will be tough to remove from the championship picture before the season closes.

A total of 12 games is on tonight's bill. In one of them Coach Maurice Clayton's Filer Wildcats will not only open their season but will touch off the Big Seven competition against the Hornets in Oakley.

Intersectional Game

Also on the program will be an intersectional game, the American Falls Damsiters playing Coach Paul McCloy's Bulldogs in Kimberly.

With Frank Urigeum back, Coach Ted Hanks' Heyburn Panthers may give Coach Rulon Budge's Bobcats trouble in a game at Burley.

In another inter-class game, Shoshone will play at Gooding.

No City Change in All-America Loop

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—All-America conference owners decided today that the same eight cities which made up the infant pro football circuit in 1947 and attracted 2,028,487 customers were good enough and strong enough for the 1948 campaign.

While the owners spent the day behind locked doors in executive sessions, rumors were rampant in the hotel corridors that the Brooklyn franchise might be transferred, possibly to Dallas, Tex. But William D. Cox, executive vice-president of the Grid Dodgers, left the session long enough to say that "Brooklyn definitely will be in the conference next year."

Benjamin F. Lindheimer, a Los Angeles Don official and chairman of the circuit's executive committee, also told reporters that "as of now, Brooklyn has fulfilled every financial obligation and is a member in good standing."

Williams' Pair Of Free Flips Beats Mushers

FAIRFIELD, Dec. 16—Williams of Shoshone and Koonce of Fairfield matched a pair of free shots at the end of the game after Brown of the Redskins had tied the score with a field goal here last night. Williams made both of his while Koonce failed on one and as a result the Redskins broke the Mushers winning streak, 46-45.

Shoshone won the game at the free throw line. Although the Mushers made 22 field goals to 16 for the Redskins, Shoshone made good on 10 out of 14 free throws, while Fairfield made only one of seven.

Al Glanders, Fairfield forward, who made 49 points in his first two games, came back with 18 points and nine field goals tonight. D. Baldwin had seven field goals, while Brown rang up five field goals and two free throws to pace Shoshone. Williams made good on seven of eight free throws for the season's record.

112-Lb. Champ Beats Yank on Booed Decision

MANCHESTER, England, Dec. 16 (AP) — World flyweight champion, Jackie Paterson of Glasgow, Scotland, won an unpopular decision over American Al Chaves, although the titleholder was on the floor at the end of their 10-round non-title bout. Both fighters weighed 116 pounds.

Making his debut in England, Chaves allowed Paterson to force the fight in the first five rounds but opened up in the sixth and dropped the Scot for a count of five.

Jackie wilted under the American's assault in the subsequent rounds and was exhausted at the finish. He fell late in the 10th round after missing a swing and had taken a count of five at the final bell.

Paterson jumped to his feet immediately afterward, indicating he could have beaten the toll, but the fans booed loudly as he was awarded the decision.

CHARLES TO BOX HOOSMAN

CHICAGO, Dec. 16 (AP)—Ezzard Charles, Cincinnati, ranking light-heavyweight contender, and heavyweight Al Hoosman, New York, have signed for a 10-round bout on Jan. 9 at the International amphitheater, Promoter Mique Malloy announced.

WRIT VACATED

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—A writ of attachments tying up heavyweight Champion Joe Louis' purse from his fight with Jersey Joe Walcott has been vacated by Supreme Court Justice James B. M. McNally as a result of agreement of the parties, it was disclosed.

The writ was obtained by Louis' wife, Marva Trotter Barrow (Louis' real name is Barrow), in connection with a suit for $30,000 for "money loaned." It was served on the 20th Century Sporting club, which promoted the bout, immediately after the fight.

The order vacating the attachment was signed as a result of a stipulation entered into with Mrs. Barrow's counsel, which said "in consideration of the sum of $10,000, plus the sum of $341, which includes costs and disbursements paid by the defendant to the plaintiff, the suit against him is settled and discontinued."

The basis of Mrs. Barrow's suit was not disclosed and her counsel declined to comment.

BOUT POSTPONED

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—The world lightweight title bout between Champion Ike Williams, Trenton, N. J., and Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia, originally scheduled at Madison Square garden Jan. 16, was postponed until Feb. 20 at the titleholder's request.

(The Pudgy One)

Ye Olde Sport Scrivener picks 'em up and puts 'em down

Arnold DePaul, the high school teacher, is thinking about organizing and drilling a group of skaters in hockey and then taking them to Idaho Falls for a match. . . Arnold you know comes from a celebrated family of hockey players in Eveleth, the little Minnesota town that last season furnished three-fourths of the four U.S.-born players in the National Hockey league.

Oh, yes, Arnold's and Mrs. Morrie Roth's little brother, Jackie, has been chosen to play in the all-American boys' hockey game in Boston, Mass.

Dr. C. R. Fox, the dentist, was a football and wrestling star at Cornell college in Iowa and afterwards coached high school football . . . But he got so thin working too hard at the latter job that he gave it all up for dentistry.

Mike O'Dowd, the former middleweight champion from St. Paul, Minn., once fought a cousin of the famed Pator jockey family in Hailey.

And it wasn't so long ago that Johnny Paychek, who fought Joe Louis—just for one round—was working with a construction gang outside Twin Falls.

Fred Stone, YOSS' idea of a sports-loving gentleman, has just returned from a trip through the midwest and south . . . And what do you think interests him most? . . . Why the bowling palaces, the sporty golf links, the giant football stadiums and the spacious recreational buildings that he visited.

That reminds the ancient word puddler . . . What have you heard lately about the clubhouse that was to be built at the municipal links?

Now that it is over, all sportsmen hereabouts will tell you that the duck hunting season was the finest in a number of years . . . And, too, more geese were killed in the Magic Valley than for a long time.

Twin Falls should be ashamed that boys desiring to train for amateur boxing need to be transported all the way out to the labor camp and that there isn't a single place to play basketball outside of the high school gym which the school needs for its activities . . . The wonder of it all is that there isn't more juvenile crime in the city.

AND THAT'S THAT FOR NOW, except: Wendell has cancelled its basketball games with Caldwell and Nampa because of the polio epidemic.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Selected oils, rails and special issues kept on the recovery side of the stock market street today while many tired-looking leaders backed away under relatively light selling.

The direction was cloudy at the close. Volume dwindled to around 1,100,000 shares from 1,450,000 the day before.

Touching highs for the year were Superior Oil, up about 8 points on a few sales; Follansbee Steel and Skelly Oil. Best Foods advanced on a favorable dividend. Steels and motors did little or nothing. Bonds were spotty.

Marshall Hits Separate Pact For Germany

Germany into a "workshop" for the Marshall plan.

Before the London conference opened, sources close to Marshall said he rejected the whole concept of a separate peace as unworkable. He admitted "some kind of accommodation" would have to be found for western Germany in case of the council failure, but ruled out a separate peace.

The same sources were asked today whether the events of the last week had changed Marshall's mind. The answer was:

"There has been no change on that issue. Something else must be worked out for truncated Germany, but we can't do it with a separate peace treaty."

The council of foreign ministers appeared doomed. A headline in the London Daily Mail expressed the sentiments of many of the delegates to the conference. It was "Dead, Done, Damned."

Each of the three foreign ministers of the west felt that the council should be abolished under the present circumstances, although none of them was likely to make a specific move to do it formally.

The only formal tie left after the ministers broke up last night, ending one of the angriest meetings of diplomats in recent history, was the Austrian peace treaty deputies. They will meet tomorrow to consider the complicated Russian proposal that Austrian oil deemed by the Soviets to be German assets be used as German reparations.

Army Uses Plane To Help Soldier Hurt on Furlough

Five hours after Pvt. Fred Pettingill, Elba, got home on Christmas furlough, he broke his neck in an automobile accident on Dec. 1. First Lieut. George P. Claxton, officer in charge of the Twin Falls army recruiting station, heard of the accident and notified army officials at Hill field, Utah.

Monday an army C-47 hospital ship, carrying special medical equipment which had been flown in from San Francisco, Calif., and two army doctors, landed at Burley. Pettingill was placed aboard the hospital plane and sent to Hill field for initial treatment. From Hill field he will be sent to an army general hospital.

Pettingill was stationed at the Rapid City airbase, S. D.

When Harold H. Nelson, 995 Harrison street, began to make a U-turn at Third avenue west and Shoshone street about 5:30 p. m. Monday, his car collided with the auto driven by Mrs. Gladys Nickolaus, 257 Buena Vista street. Slight damage was reported by police.

Another accident occurred in the 200 block of Shoshone street about five minutes later when cars driven by Herman Paulsen, 671 Fourth avenue west, and Gilbert M. McCarter, route 3, Twin Falls, collided. The cars had been moved before arrival of police.

A Nebraska automobile was involved in an accident in the 2100 block of Kimberly road, Monday. Slight damage resulted when the car driven by Claude Shoup, Bushnell, Nebr., collided with the vehicle driven by Joseph Collins, 268 Lois street.

25 Scouts Given Wrangler Award At Annual Rally

"Wrangler" awards were presented to 25 Scouts and "top hand" awards went to two Scout units at the annual Twin Falls district Boy Scout round-up rally Monday, Jewil Ahlin, district commissioner, announced Tuesday.

"Wrangler" awards were presented to each Scout who recruited a new member for his troop since September. Troop 6, Knull, sponsored by the Knull Grange, received the "top hand" award for having 100 per cent attendance of parents at the rally. Troop 67, Twin Falls, received a similar award for having more than 25 parents at the program.

Troop Committee Chairman Wayland C. Custer, troop 6, and Carl Boyd, troop 67, received the "top hand" awards for their troops.

Writ Secured For Children By Ex-Spouse

Jerry Jess, 435 Third street west, has been ordered to appear in district court with his children at 2 p. m. Wednesday in answer to a writ of habeas corpus secured by his former wife.

Mrs. Flossie McBride claims their four children are not receiving "proper care." She wants them in Washington with her and her present husband.

According to the papers filed by Attorney Harry Benoit, the couple was divorced Aug. 30, 1946. She was given custody of the children and $30 a month for support.

Jess made only one monthly payment, according to the papers. In January, 1947, Mrs. McBride states she placed the children in the children's home, Boise, while she looked for work in Washington.

In May she asked for the children, but was informed Jess had re-married and had received "legal advice" concerning the four youngsters.

Mrs. McBride visited Jess' new wife who promised to "care for the children." In order to prevent litigation, Mrs. McBride agreed to let her have the children "for awhile," the papers state.

Mrs. McBride claims her successor did take good care of the children while she lived with them. But Jess' new wife left him, Mrs. McBride alleges.

Now Carl, 12; Viola, 10; Helen, 7, and Daniel, 5, are living in a one-room apartment with Viola as housekeeper, she contends. The youngest is left alone while the others are in school, she states.

In her new Washington home, she has ample room to take care of her children, Mrs. McBride states. Moreover, her husband is willing to provide for them.

Taft to Push Inflation Act On Senators

sections of the President's program. They would:

1. Authorize the agriculture department to regulate margin (down payment) requirements covering speculative trading in grain and other commodities.

2. Set up a food and grain conservation program.

3. Authorize the commodity credit corporation to promote food production abroad.

The Wolcott bill was brought up in the house yesterday under procedure requiring a two-thirds vote to pass it. The vote was 202 for passage and 188 against, or 58 short of the needed margin.

Like the house bill drafted by Representative Wolcott, R., Mich., Taft's measure would authorize voluntary agreements by industry aimed at bringing down prices under temporary suspension of the anti-trust laws; extend export controls, and continue transportation restrictions.

Community Chest Reports $19,016

The current clean-up drive of the Twin Falls Community Chest campaign has pushed the total ahead, but it is still short of the goal, Chairman Graydon W. Smith said Tuesday.

To date, the campaign has raised $19,016 toward the objective of $23,400. Clean-up crews are still busy in the field but contributions continue to come in slowly, according to the chairman.

Smith pointed out that anyone not yet reached by the canvass can speed its completion by getting in touch with the Chamber of Commerce office or him or by sending donations through the mail to either office.

Driver Fined $25 In Probate Court

Charles M. Heppler, 227 Fifth avenue east, paid a $25 fine Tuesday morning after he pleaded guilty to running a stop sign Dec. 3. Heppler appeared before Probate Judge S. T. Hamilton.

Heppler was cited by State Police Officer M. J. Hays, jr., for reckless driving and failure to heed a stop sign. He pleaded not guilty before Justice J. O. Pumphrey.

Heppler, who was represented by Attorney E. M. Rayborn, secured transfer of the trial to probate court.

Interest Acquired In Pictsweet Firm

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16 (AP)—An agreement whereby Transamerica corporation will acquire a minority interest in Pictsweet Foods, Inc., which has 12 plants in Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho and California, was announced today by Sam H. Husbands, executive vice-president of the Transamerica. (One plant is at Buhl, Ida.)

The agreement, subject to final closing, provides that Transamerica will purchase 8,250 shares of new Pictsweet 5 per cent convertible $100 par preferred stock. Capital company, a Transamerica subsidiary, will turn over to Pictsweet two food freezing plants at Kent, Wash., and Albany, Ore., in exchange for 1,500 shares of Pictsweet common stock.

L. L. Brotherton, president of Pictsweet, said his company would use the $825,000 it would receive from Transamerica to finance expansions. He indicated the company's 1947 sales would be around $12,000,000, six times prewar sales.

Water Supplies of Jews Are Cut Off

JERUSALEM, Dec. 16 (UP)—Reports reached Jerusalem today that Arab bands, operating in "military-like formations," had cut the water supply of 14 Jewish settlements in the Negev, the southern desert region.

Squads of Jewish Hagana men hurried out to repair at least five punctures in the long pipeline winding across the desert and through the settlements the Jews have so laboriously planted.

If their water supply is stopped, the settlements may face real trouble. The areas around them are largely Arab.

Fearful of their position, the Neveg Jews, working through Hagana, were reported putting up "security houses"—virtual fortresses with a 60-day supply of food, water, arms and ammunition against Arab sieges.

A STATEMENT OF POLICY

We dont' quote prices on cars we have for sale. But because we have a vast buying organization and an efficient selling organization, we can operate on a small margin of profit per unit. Therefore when you drive to any Ben Browning lot we will trade with you on an honest basis of difference between cars. We neither steal your car, figuratively speaking, nor do we give you an arbitrary high price on your car to deceive you.

Our aim is to deal with the public honestly, while providing our customers with economical transportation. We know, in this period of short supply of good automobiles, that leading you to believe that anything other than you get just what you pay for, is misleading. As for prices we trade cars using the Blue Book as our guide.
